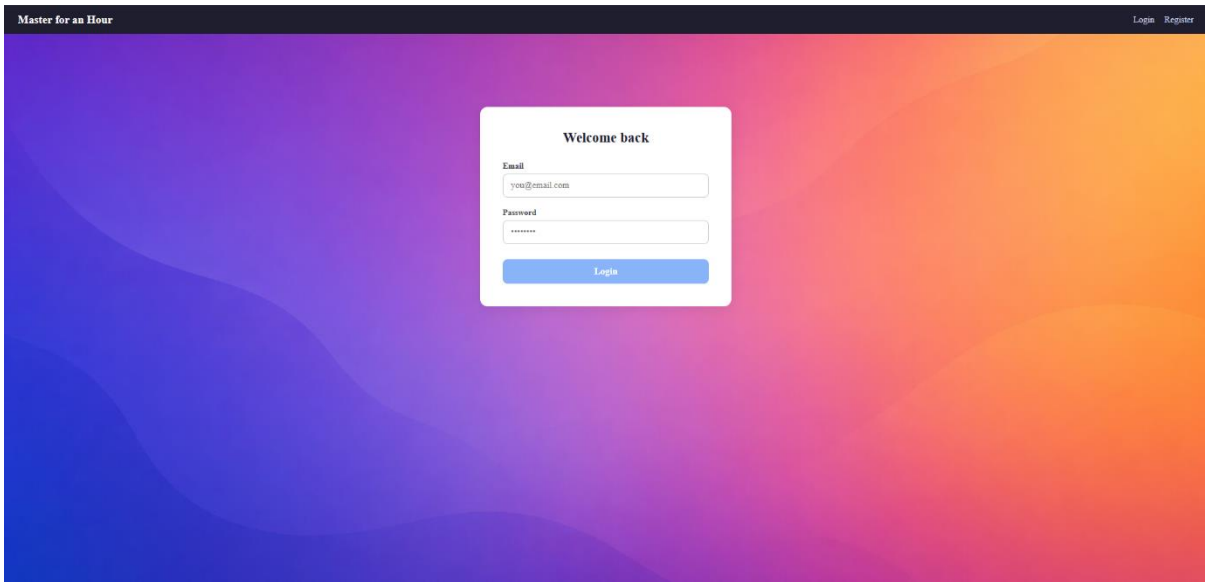
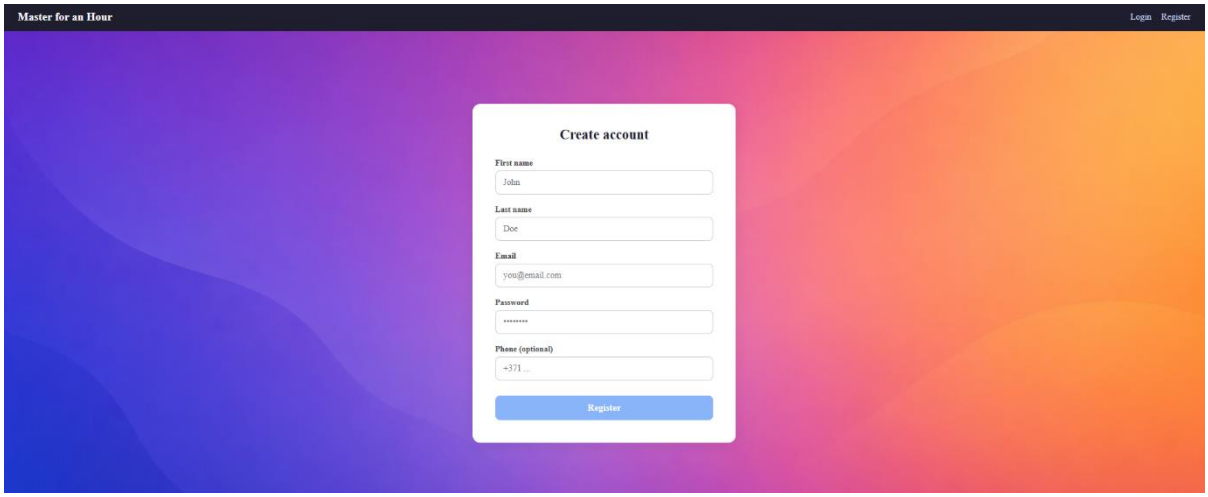
Login Page



On right corner user, can navigate to register or login page, default login page open first.

In box user enters his email and password to get into system

Register Page

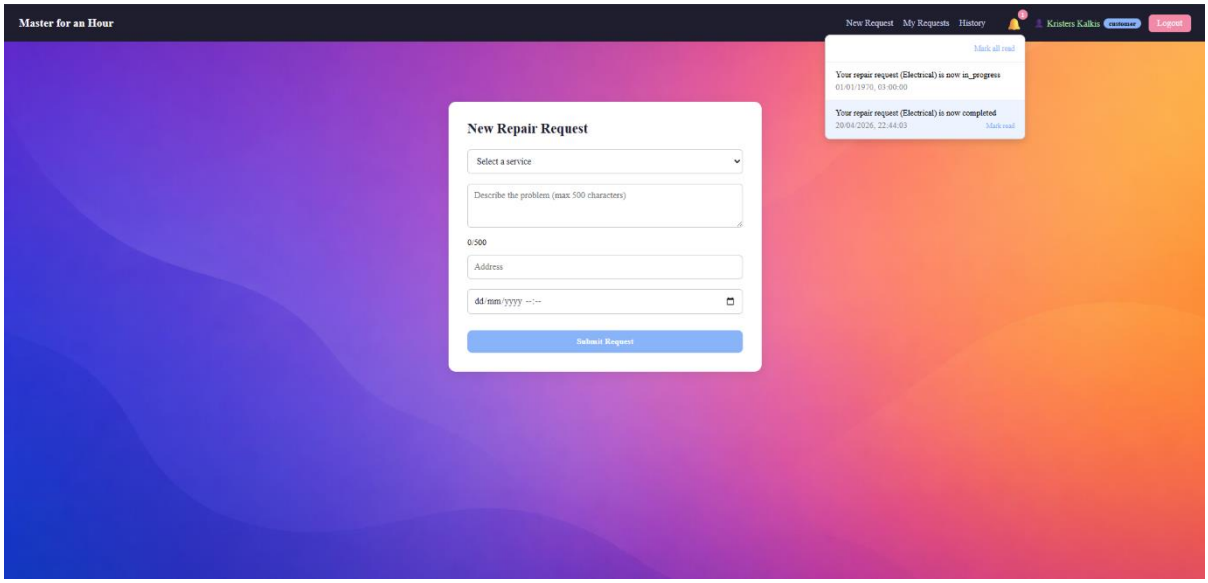


On right corner user, can navigate to register or login page.

In box user needs to enter his name, last name, email , password and optinaly phone.

When all done he navighates back to login page, and enters his email and password to get into system

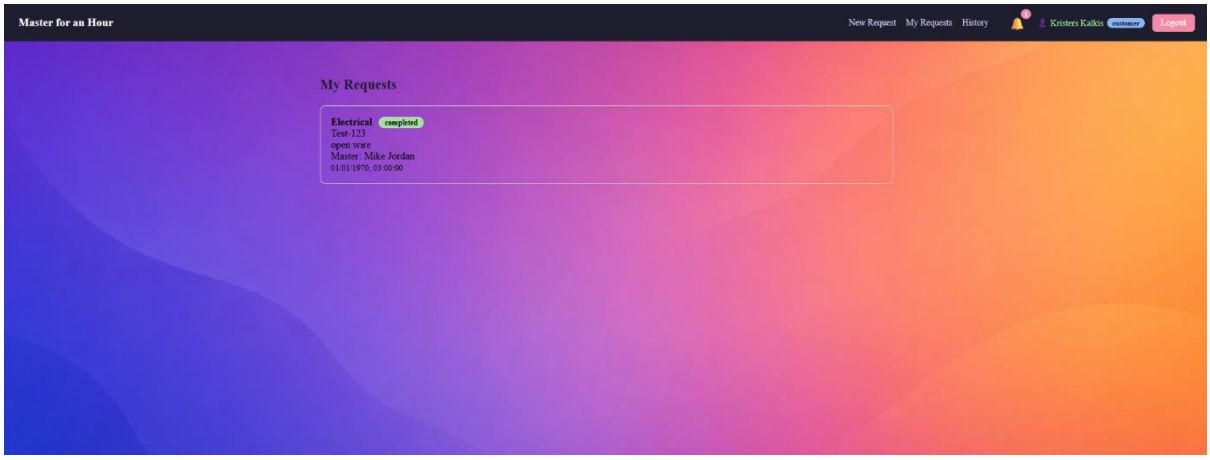
USER SIDE



When users logs into system, it opens new request page. Here he can select service, describe problem, add address and date when he wants to service be done and submit request.

In top right corner user can navigate to his already submitted not fully completed requests, history of them, logout.

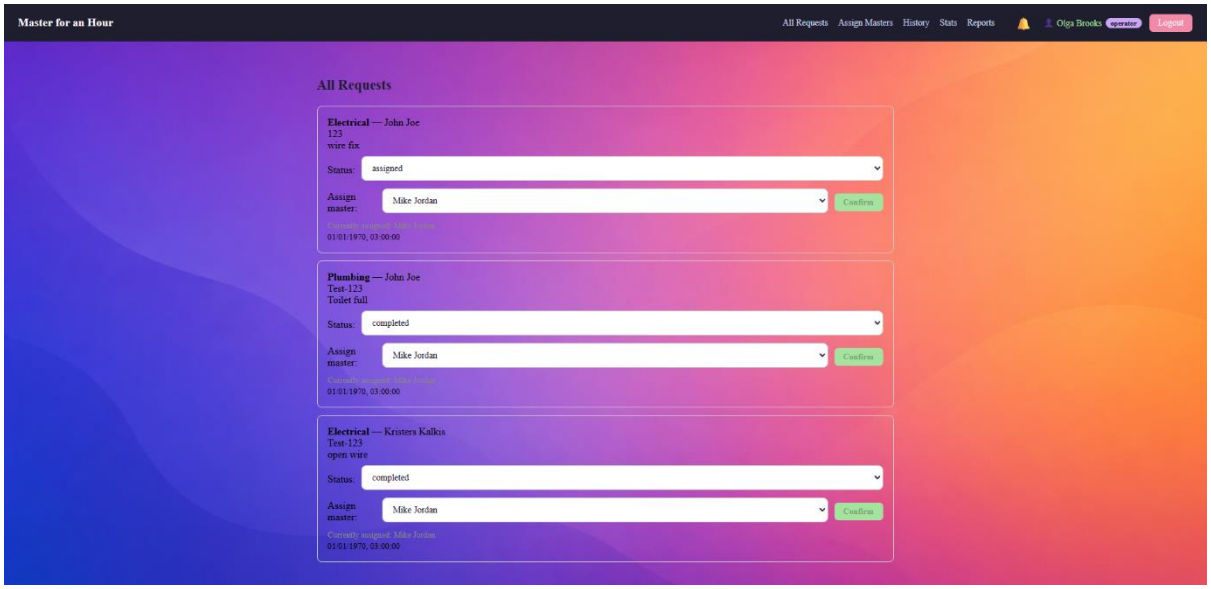
User can press bell that shows any new notification in user case it informs when repairs is completed, in progress e.c



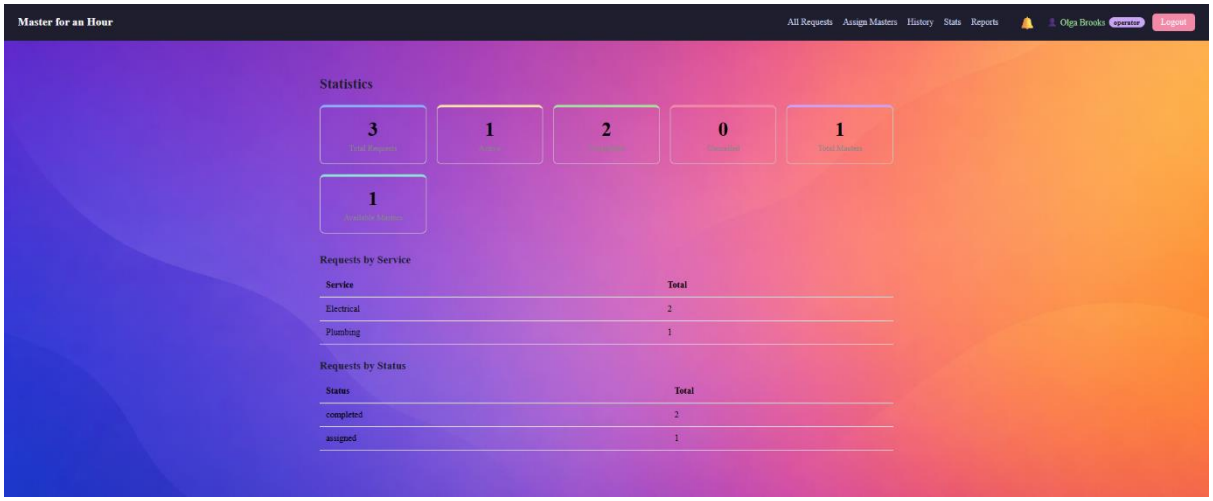
In top right corner user can navigate to his already submitted not fully completed requests, history of them, logout.

In this page user can see all his request that he ever submitted and their status.

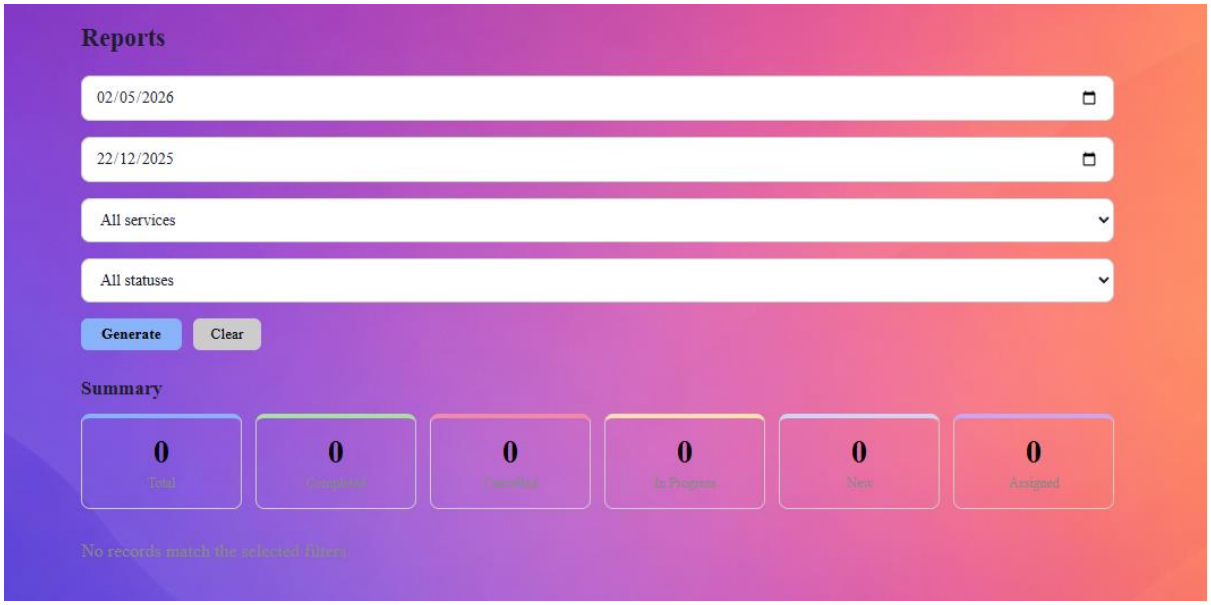
OPERATOR SIDE



This is main page that opens when operator logs in, here he sees new or outgoing requests, where operator can assignee available masters and change status of request

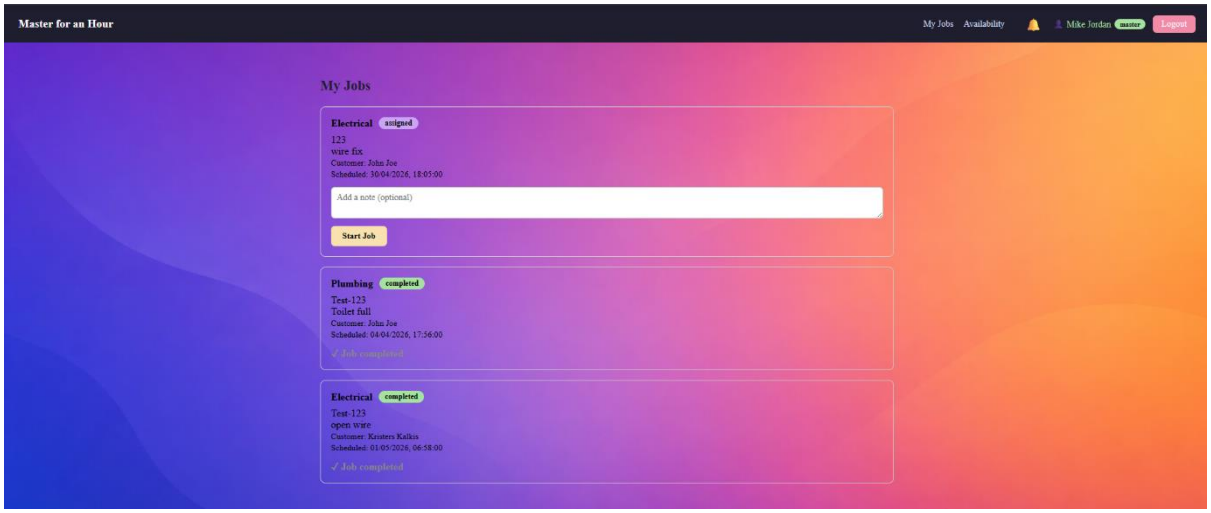


This is operator stats page, where its shows total requests, they statuses, services by category's

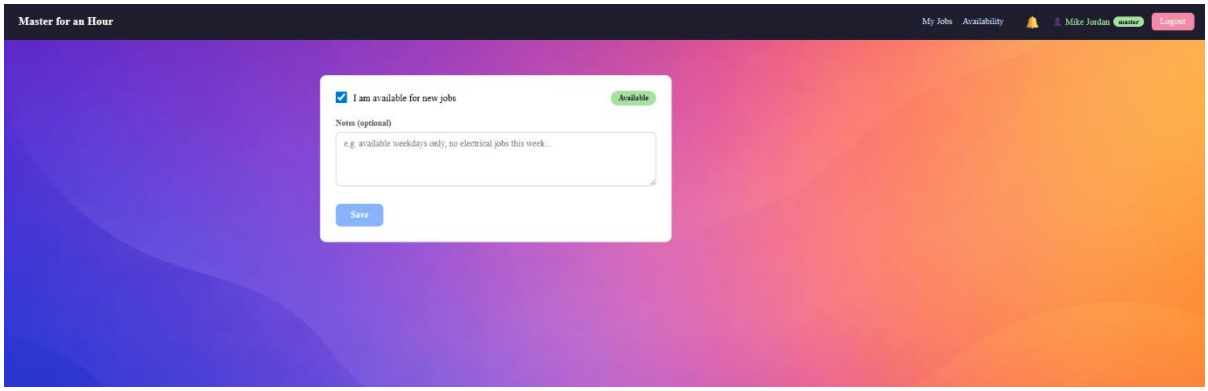


This is report page, where operator can enter specific time where he needs to see requests, and it will shows summary of requests in that time interval

MASTER SIDE



This all master jobs page, here he can see all his jobs, for example on top, is new job, where he can press start job, to start it, that will change status of it to in_progres, and when he finishes it, he need to press finish job, and it will be marked as completed



This is master availability page, where he can mark that he is available or mark that he is not, and operator wont assign new jobs to him